Wa laikum salam, Arshi

Climbing up a ladder to get to the clouds represents progress in matters of religion, as well as success of ambitions in life. Your eldest brother-in-law is as ambitious and as kind-hearted as yourself, a benevolent, religious person.

Your grandfather has passed away; death in a dream represents the end of a phase in life. Hence, you have stopped being a materialist i.e. thinking it important or enjoyable to buy beautiful things whilst out shopping. The fact that you are now more holy is represented by the white domes of the shops – representing matters spiritual [mosques] rather than goods [commerce].

Your being in Africa fits in with wanting to do charity work in the future by helping the needy; after all, many of the poorest people on Earth are in Africa. Children need the most help and you have dreamt of African children having fun [riding elephants], presumably after being helped. I think this means that you will be successful in your mission.

Finally, if you're only 35 years old, you're still young! Insha'Allah, you'll live to be seventy or more, so you're only half-way there. And it does not take long to accomplish much individually if you have the resources – certainly not 35 years!

It is laudable that you have these noble intentions; may Allah Most High smooth your path for you!

Arshi Ali <aali@panaceapharma.com> wrote:

Asalaamalicum Dr. Azam,

Thank you so much for responding to my e-mail so quickly. I really did not think that you would respond. I have always since I can remember dreamed of getting rich, and helping others. It does not matter to me whether they are muslim or non. I am really not sure if this is classified as a dream or having my head in the clouds.

My dream usually consists of either the lottery or getting a windfall. I dream of making homes for the poor. I want to send people who cannot afford to go to Hajj. I want to make homes for my family. I am 35 years old you would think by this age I would learn that these dream may never come true. This is very hard to accept for me.

The next three paragraphs are my sleep induced dreams.

A year ago I had a dream where my home was in the clouds. The only way up to it was by a ladder. I was climbing it but could not get into my own home. My eldest brother in-law finally helped me get into my own home. It is wierd that I had a dream with him when he is Pakistan.

In one dream I was out shopping (my favorite past time), the shops were white domes, and everthing was white. My grandfather that I saw back in 1986 was also there. My Grandfather had past away in 93. Anyway I am shopping, and there are beautiful things but I don't see anything I like.

This is the last and maybe the wierdest to my way of thinking, I am in a place like a Africa. I see baby elephants and children who are all dirty and maybe even nude. I feel as if I am there. I see kids riding on the elephant.

These dreams make no sense to me. The ones that I am awake for make even less sense to me. I really appreciate the time you have taken to read this e-mail. If you cannot make sense of it don't worry about it. The fact that you took some time out to response is very appreciated.

Please don't put this on your website, I really feel like a fool for writing to you and bothering you with this.

Thank you

Arshi Ali

Subject: [www.AAAKINGDOM.com] Re: My Islamic Research

Assalamu Alaikum,

I am beginning to feel that a few of you really are helplessly deluded and genuinely do not understand the nature of my work on religious dreams.

I am making the point in my book DREAMS IN ISLAM that, if a person is righteous, then he or she can benefit from religious dreams which contain messages and guidance from Allah Most High. And my research papers such as DREAMS OF REWARD IN PARADISE, DREAMS OF KNOWLEDGE AND SCHOLARSHIP and TRUE DREAMS all give examples of actual dreams, which I have myself experienced, to emphasise the point of religious dreams being messages from God. Do you not think that this in-depth research is valuable because it is original? Not much Islamic research on 'dreams' has been done in the past; it is a rare field of study.

Rehmana, there's no such thing as a Dua for tall height because we should be happy with the way Allah has created us. If a girl is not tall, she might loathe herself, but her husband may find this a loveable trait. So we humans cannot judge appearances effectively. For this reason, changing bodily features using cosmetic surgery would be haram.

Salam,

You're right, Rehmana! It's a negative reply I'm going to give you.

I think the ring from France represents romance. You've been happy with the attention Shazad has given you; hence you were showing the baby boy to people. To see a ring means:

Ring

To see a ring on your finger in your dream, signifies your commitment to a relationship or a successful new endeavor. It also indicates your loyalty to your ideals, responsibilities, and beliefs.

To see a broken ring in your dream, signifies an attack on your loyalty. It is indicative of disappointments and separation.

To dream that you lose a ring or someone has stolen your ring, suggests that you will lose something or someone near and dear to you.

To dream that you receive a ring, denotes that your suspicions and worries over you lover will end. You will come to realize that he is true to his heart and will devote himself to your interest.

http://islamedia.ws/Dream_Dictionary_-R_-Meaning_of_Dreams

The door represents your father; lots of people represent the shame of your father in the community because of your actions [since you had this dream]. Shazad thought you two were married but you knew you weren't; this implies that the right thing to do is to get married or give up thinking about him, talking about him etc. to prevent your dad losing honour in the community.

Salam,

Well done, Abrar, that you gave AAKingdom members proof of the MAQALID AS-SAMAWATI WAL ARD Dua from Kinzul Umaal and Maulana Barkat Ali's book. But I have heard that many Arabs are Wahabbis [although they claim to be Sunnis], so their interpretation of authenticity is too narrow & inflexible. Don't worry, though! We know what we are saying is right, and Allah Most High is the one who rewards! May Allah Bless you!

Dear Imaan,

It's great to hear from you again; how are you doing in life? I've read your dream and found it immensely difficult to interpret, as it doesn't fit the categories of dream symbols in Ibn Sireen's [R.A.] book. As a very rough interpretation, though, I would say that the dream told you that you have sinned in the past [symbolised by prisoner], and then repented [symbolised by the call for human rights] and would be undergoing hardship in life for 3 years [represented by 3 sons]

but you will endure this misery with dignity [great power, used in a good way]. Since you had this dream 2 years ago, that only leaves a further year of hardship for you! Then, Insha'Allah, your life will become happy and successful. And Allah knows best! I'm sending you the Holy Quran and a special dua by separate mail, Imaan. Please see my new Site www.drumar-azam.co.uk

Keep in touch!

Dear Dr Azam,

We met many years ago at a radio station in Manchester, where I was working on a local show where you were invited to discuss dreams.

I was wondering if you could help me, being an expert I would like to you to interpret a profound dream that I had a couple of years ago.

The dream took place in an area where I used to live as a child. It was in the suburbs, down a street on a bright, sunny warm day, where my old school friend and I sat in an ice cream van drinking coffee. I decided to get some items and asked my friend to hold my coffee, and went to a small corner shop, which had a prison located just around it. Prisoners hand cuffed, could purchase items with a guard watching over them. The shop itself was a brilliant white inside. I purchased my items, came back to the van, by that time my friend had finished drinking my coffee. So, I went to get another coffee at the shop. There I saw an African or Afro Caribbean man cuffed, in an orange suit, stood by the magazine stall, with a guard. I walked over to the counter ready to purchase my items, when a poster, located on a wall, next to the exit door, caught my eye. It was an advertisement for a film; a woman (a Jewish actress) in a 19th century peasant attire was stood on a rock, protesting about rights, or something to that effect. I thought 'yet another propaganda film', but to my surprise I saw a list of critics that praised the film, especially a man called Abdullah, who stated 'the film was great', to that effect anyway. As I walked out I found myself transforming into this woman, I then looked up to the sky and a brown open book emerged from the light blue sky, it was written in Old English, stating that 'God has ordained 3 sons to be born to me and that each one would have great power, power that would be used in a good way. Although I could see the text written in gold, I didn't read those words, I felt those words, as if God was speaking to me directly.

As an expert, how would you interpret this dream, as I am fully aware, some dreams can have opposite meanings.

Yours Sincerely,

Iman

You must have heard that dreams often have different meaning; it seems like your dream is one of these 'inverted-significance' dreams. Crying in a dream means laughing – and vice-versa. If your first marriage 'died', this means that the unhappiness will, Insha'Allah go away i.e. 'die' – reinforced by the sorrow [which really means happiness]. So your first marriage will become like a second marriage! Your mother will have something to do with the restoration of your marital happiness. So, don't worry – let thing develop naturally! Feel free to ask me for advice whenever you need.

As I mentioned earlier, I am happy with my wife and have no such plans for second marriage. Though there are some minor issues; but these are natural in any family and not lead to second marriage.

I just wanted to get more clarification on my dream, Do you mean that all my family problems will be solved and I will be happy with my existing marriage?

White clothes in a dream represent good deeds and strong faith, so your relatives and their kids who were wearing these white clothes are pious characters and not responsible for the jadoo which has resulted in your cousin sister being handicapped & you having evil dreams of your cousins being in the custody of Jinns & you being in danger too.

You have 2 options:

A] Get a Taweez made from a genuine Pir [there are plenty around in India & Pakistan and wear that around your neck for protection

B] Buy the PANJSURA SHAREEF and do the amals in that book.

Then I think you will be protected.

Yes, it is, Ebrahim. Our religion tells us to be flexible, not too severe. Did you know that if an unbeliever has drunk from a glass of water, it is permissible for a believer to drink from the same glass? After all, all human beings are the family of Hazrat Adam

then it is forbidden, but if something is generally known to be halal, then of course it is permissible. But some of our fellow Muslims have begun to split hairs! So, for example, if Coca Cola say that everything in their drink is halal, people start talking about seeing a red devil on the label, Coke having pig's blood in it and other such nonsense!

We will be accepting:

- Cover Designs

- Articles
- Any other type of submission approved by the editors

Here are also two surveys that will Insha'Allah appear in New Dawn; they both take less than 5 minutes of your time to answer:

Termite eat up a 100 years of old Quraan. All the cover was damaged and box was damaged and even the Urdu Translation was damaged but the termite did not touch the Arabic words of Holy Quraan. This shows that the words of almighty ALLAH are always preserved by almighty ALLAH even the termite did not damaged the arabic verses.
